SECTION- A
(READING)

1. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

In India, March 8th has been Women's Day for several decades. It received a major boost during the tenure of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and later, Prime Minister Rajeev Gandhi, who made it a practice to invite a large number of 'women of substance' to a celebratory get-together in Delhi. As more and more Indian women become aware of their equal status and fight of education and opportunity, March 8th acquires a greater and wider significance. Today, as 21st century Indian women celebrate their awesome achievements, they continue to spell out their dream for the future of the country. March 8th becomes a symbolic day for recognizing their vision and contribution to the building of India. In the last few years, Women's Day celebrations have encouraged them to come together in innumerable seminars, networking gatherings and even sponsored parties. It is a time when powerful men from all walks of life pay rich tributes to Indian women. An example is a priceless remark made by Amitabh Bachchan! He said, "It is clear that the 21st century belongs to women. They have earned every bit of the power and glory they are enjoying and men should applaud their achievements wholeheartedly.”

Indian women have discovered three magical mantras of life in the last decade! These are: one: Beauty and glamour are their birthright. Two: Women are no longer the worst enemies of women. In fact, they can network, mentor each other and reach unprecedented heights of achievement. Three: Energy is a stretchable concept.

Based on these three discoveries, women have upgraded their goals and literally covered every field of endeavors with glory and pride. They have shown beyond doubts, that as the world opens new windows of options and opportunities at the speed of light, they are smart, beautiful and savvy enough to rise to the occasion and turn the tide of fortune in their favour. The success of India’s beautiful women has also created a huge revolution in the fashion, fitness and beauty industries. Fashion designers of the eighties, who limited their designs to various looks in the basic salwar kameez, have acquired a splendid plumage of innovation and exotica in the last ten years. Many women designers like Ritu Kumar, Ritu Beri, Monisha Jaisingh, Anna Singh, Neets Lulla and others gave Indian fashion-wear a brand new definition. Today, Indian designers not only sell their collections each season in India, but they also export their styles to many countries to hi-end stores in the UK, US, Europe and Australia and hold shows in the fashion weeks held in many of the world’s fashion capitals like Milan and Paris.

2. Read the following passage and answer the question that follow:

Health is a positive state of physical and mental well-being. When we feel secure – by being physically healthy and free from disease, by feeling content, and by living in a comfortable and clean environment ..... we are in a state of positive health. Our close and harmonious interactions with family members, neighbours, and friends help us to stay well mentally.

According to this definition, very few people in the world enjoy positive health. In the rich and developed countries, family ties appear to be weakening, neighbours may be strangers and friendship is sometimes restricted to business contacts. In those countries environmental conditions have improved considerably. The populations have achieved a better nutritional status, and there is often plenty of money available to buy most of life's comforts. People in developed countries may enjoy better physical health, but they are far from achieving positive health, as many are not so contented. On the other hand, in the developing countries, the quality of human interactions within families, neighbours and friends are often more positive. However, both the environmental and nutritional status of these populations are lower, so the people suffer more from poor physical health. When a person's physical health is poor, the state of positive health cannot exist. So, we find that positive health is eluding many of us.

However, it is not impossible for people in developing countries to achieve positive health. To help achieve this state, we need an understanding of how our bodies function so that we can keep healthy; we also need a clean environment and healthy food that does not cost too much money. We need proper education for all people that leads to understanding the relationship between health and a positive approach to life.

A.10 (i) Most poor people in firozabad are engaged in bangle making. They keep working there generation after generation. It is very difficult for them to think of doing anything else. The Sahukars, the middlemen, the policemen the keepers of law, the bureaucratise, and the politicians have created the vicious circle from whereto is very difficult for the workers in the bangle industry to get out. They do not let them think beyond making bangles. It someone ever dares think otherwise, he will be hauled up by the police. He will be beaten and dragged to jail for doing something illegal. They are forced not to see things differently. They accept their fate before being aware of it. The vicious circle of poverty and injustice never allows them to take any courageous step. 7

(ii) The author had learnt how to swim. But he was not sure that all his fear had left. He decided to overcome his fear of water, So he went to lake went worth in New Hampshire, dived off a dock at Triggs Islands and swam two miles across the lake to stamp Act Island. He swam the various types, a crawl, breats Stroke, side stroke and balk stroke. When he was in the middle of the lake and put his face under water and swa nothing but bottmless water, he got a little frightened. The author laughed the error away. Yet he had residual doubts. So he comped in the high Meadow by the side of Warm Lake. The next day he stripped, dived into the lake, and swam across to the other shore and back. Just as Doug Corpron used to do. He shouted with joy and Gilbert Peak returned the echo. Thus Douglas conquered his old terror. 7

A.11 (i) The world' geiological history is trapped in Antarctica. Antarctica belongs to ancient geological era when human beings had not yet evolved. Here we can study the earth's Past. About go percent of the earth's total ice are stored her. There are no trees, buildings or other human marks. Here we see glaciers melting and ice-caps falling. We can relate them to the results of global warming. Antarctica also warns us for the future. It warns the end of the world if the west Antarctica ice sheet melts entirely and the Gulf

Steam ocean current is disrupted. Thus, Antarctica is the perfect place to go to, to understand the earth's present, past and the future.
